SAVE! (Bingo) Definitions

Investment that represents a share of ownership in a company.	A way to spread around risk — making sure you invest in different kinds of businesses.	Money borrowed from an investor by a corporation or government; they agree to pay back at a certain date in the future with interest.	Amount of money you put into savings or invest.
Diverse portfolio of stocks or bonds tied to an index and sold like a stock.	When interest earns interest.	The value of all your assets minus all your liabilities.	Insurance if you should invest through a brokerage and it fails; covers you for some losses, but NOT those from market fluctuations.
Insures deposits in banks up to $250,000 per account per institution.	Any chance of loss or uncertainty.	What you own that has value.	The amount a bank, credit union, corporation or government agrees to pay you for the use of your money expressed as a percentage.
Deposit account against which you can write checks.	Insures deposits in credit unions up to $250,000 per account per institutions.	When you earn money through the increase in the value of shares or your overall portfolio.	A depository account in a bank or credit union. Not designed for paying bills.
Timed deposit — returns depend on amount you deposit and how long you deposit it for.	Diverse portfolio of stocks or bonds managed by professionals, sold once per day.	The gradual increase in the cost of all things OR the gradual lessening of the buying power of a dollar.	Securities issued to raise the money needed to operate the federal government and to pay off its debt. They are generally considered safe because they are backed by “the full faith and credit of the U.S. government.”
Putting your money somewhere you expect greater returns; you are often willing to take on more risk.	What you earn from the principal you put into savings vehicles or investments.	Portion of a corporation’s profits given back to shareholders; can be cash or more shares.	Setting aside a portion of your income for use in the future.
